

How does the distribution of international student scores vary across different regions of the world?

What is the relationship between regional university rankings and international student outcomes, considering faculty-student scores?

Within each continent, which institute ranks among the top 10 for employability outcome score?

Using a Packed Bubble Chart, with Crime Index as the label and number of institutes as the size, how does safety perception vary among countries?

